(Flint, Michigan)— After more than 30 years, Flint Bishop is bringing an Air Show back to the community! Wings over Flint will make a historic Air Show return June 24-25, 2023!

“This is going to be epic! We are so excited to bring an Air Show back to the Flint Community,” said Nino Sapone, CEO at Flint Bishop Airport. “This type of event has been missing from the region for three decades and it’s time to celebrate aviation again.”

The two-day community event will include air performances by nationally recognized acts, aircraft static displays, children’s activities, and much more. The outdoor festivities will be at the airport and will also spotlight our Armed Forces, Veterans, and First Responders.

“A considerable amount of community support is needed for the Air Show. We are hoping our community partners will join us in generating enthusiasm for aviation,” said Sapone. “We will need lots of support in the way of sponsorships, volunteers, and awareness.”
